

SENATOR CAMERON ON THE IRRE-
PRESSIBLE CONFLICT.

Senator Cameron, of this State, is the author of a very valuable paper in the May-June number of the North American Review, on "The Irrepressible Conflict Undecided." The article is a very strong one, and by that we mean it is well written; it is a valuable political production; it shows the true character of the political parties; it gives substantial reasons why the mission of the Republican party is not ended; it illustrates the spirit of the Democracy, especially that of the Southern Democracy; and it finally shows the danger and the folly of placing the control of the Government in the hands of the Democratic party. Mr. Cameron understands the political situation in the South very thoroughly, and his knowledge of that situation is imparted to the readers of the Review in an article which commands the earnest attention of all readers of our political history, both for the facts it contains and the broad culture it exhibits. Aside from the scholarship it displays, it is valuable as a campaign document, and should be thoroughly circulated throughout the country.

The length of the article and our limited space preclude us from making as liberal quotations from the Senator's excellent paper as we should like, and we must therefore content ourselves by hastily reviewing it and furnishing our readers with only the main points thereof.

Mr. Cameron says that no one can doubt that the Republican party has been the party of progress. "It began its life by driving back the destroying angel of slavery from the Territories. As soon as it came of age it grappled with the demon of treason, and slew him who sought the young nation's life. Beneath its divine displeasure human slavery disappeared from our land forever. Of four millions of bondmen it made freedmen; and of four million freedmen it made citizens." After the war, the Senator says, "the prodigal sons were welcomed home. History has no similar story of magnanimity to tell. No organization of men, whether religious or political, has a more lustrous record than the Republican party. Other parties have blessed their friends; this party alone showed beneficence on its foes. For once only on this planet the loftiest teaching of Christianity was practiced by a political organization."

Mr. Cameron then asks what is the result. "There is a solid South. That solid South has allied its political fortunes, with the Democratic party. Without the solid South the Democratic party would be a feeble faction—a moral night-savenger's card landed with the outpourings of civilization, instead of a war-chariot armed with disciplined and exultant soldiers." He further says no man can deny that the South will rule the republic if the Democratic party succeed at the next Presidential election, and by the "South" he means the old rulers of the Southern Confederacy, the Bourbon Democracy—not the people of the Southern States.

Are these men, he asks, fit to govern the nation? He answers, no, not solely because they were traitors to the Government, but because it has been demonstrated that they have not the capacity to govern a Republic. The condition of the South prior to and after the war, confirms this. Every one of the ex-Rebel States as soon as it passed under Democratic control, has "scaled" or "graded" or "compromised," or repudiated its State, county, and municipal debts.

Again, what has labor to expect if the Southern Democracy triumph? Mr. Cameron gives a powerful answer to that question. He says taxation was levied in the South with a merciless rigor on labor, while capital was permitted to discede its own terms. Then he gives illustrations of how the iniquitous scheme of taxation has worked in the South. Colonel Benson Drake in Warren county, Mississippi, owned a fine cotton plantation of 8,500 acres and a magnificent house, which was taxed $92.78. Colonel J. E. Davis owned 3,793 acres of rich land on the Mississippi river, taxed $144.14, and the estate was sold after taxes for $50,000. General Quitman owned 6,810 acres of land handsomely improved, which rented for $30,000 per year, this was taxed $184.64. Thus the lords of the lash were favored, says Mr. Cameron, but how did the workingmen fare? Just in this wise: In Vicksburg, a lively-stable keeper paid $671.03. A common butcher paid $243.70. A poor shoemaker paid $75.28, and a barber with no assets except his soap, shears and razor, paid $107.63, and a colored drayman for his dray and two mules was compelled to pay $38.82. Thus, while men owning large plantations and living in splendid mansions were assessed at from five to ten cents an acre on their rich lands, the poor man was burdened with iniquitous taxation. Can any record, asks Mr. Cameron, more vividly portray the spirit of the Southern Democratic leaders? and have the Northern labor-reformers anything to hope from these men if they shall ever sit in the seats of national power?

He then concludes: "The Republican party must and shall be maintained, to the end that the great nation may continue to prosper; that its honor may be kept above reproach, or even suspicion of reproach; that its laws may guard the rights of labor and foster universal enlightenment; that fraud may be punished and conspiracy suppressed, and liberty for all perpetuated and extended."

Congressman Williams, of this city, will be accorded the honor of delivering the oration at Arlington Heights, near Washington, on Decoration Day. The best orators in the nation have been called in years past to perform this task, and the selection of Mr. Williams is a worthy compliment to his eloquence as a public speaker.

THE EAST.

The Question of Peace or War Still Trembling in the Balance.

LONDON, May 5.—Peace or war seem to be trembling in the balance, with little progress except in the preparations for war. Meantime the practical consequences of a possible struggle begin to impress themselves upon the public mind. Mercantile interests are suffering a severe check under the authentic news of Russia's preparations to simply stand on the defensive shore, while striking her antagonist in her commerce on every side. Russia, they see, is comparatively inaccessible, while no amount of brave effort can save British commerce from destruction. Except that England takes little counsel of prudent fears when she reaches the present condition of passionate stubbornness, this newly reorganized danger might be expected to cause a halt. It still remains to be seen whether the Car can offer England any acceptable guarantee that she will not threaten the British roads to India. Meantime, no European congress will be allowed to put her in bonds. Bismarck really seems to have retired from his mediating efforts, but his heavy hand continues to restrain Austria, so that England shall have no ally if she persists in war simply to cripple Russia's power to seize upon India. While war, logically, ought not to come out of this situation, it will be wise to reckon its chances when considering the future of your crops and the profits of their exports.

PENSIONS.

The Feeling of the Democrats in Congress Toward Union Soldiers.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—On Saturday Speaker Randall, for the second time, exercised his right to vote, and by making it prevented an appropriation for the hire of clerks to examine the applications for pensions so that the business of the Pension Office can be brought up to date. Whenever an application for a pension is made it is sent to the Surgeon General's Office, where the hospital records of the war are kept, and these records are examined to see if the affidavits of the applicants are corroborated by these records. Three years ago when the Democrats got a majority in the House, they reduced the number of clerks employed to do this work so much that in the Surgeon General's office today cases can be disposed of only about one-third as fast as they arrive, and unexamined cases have accumulated to the number of 20,000.

An amendment was offered to the appropriation bill on Saturday, increasing the number of clerks in the Surgeon General's office, and the vote on its adoption was, yeas, 115, nays, 114, but Randall voted in the negative, and made a tie, which, of course, prevented its passage. Several Democrats voted for the amendment, and no Republican voted against it. The last time Randall caused a tie by his vote, it was to prevent a Republican contestant from Massachusetts from obtaining his seat in the House. This practice is peculiar to him. No other Speaker ever did it. It is lawful, but unusual and unfair, and wounded soldiers and the widows of soldiers who have to wait years for their pension papers to be examined can charge the delay upon the Democratic party generally, and then upon Randall particularly.

THE ARMY.

Hewitt's Attempt to Prove that Republicans are Ungrateful—How the Democrats Propose to Reduce the Rank of the Army.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 5.—The Democrats have hitherto kept their purpose as to the Army bill secret; but the bill is now completed, and will be presented to the House Tuesday. Abram S. Hewitt, of New York, who has charge of the bill, tonight explained its provisions. The bill is constructed upon the following plan: Hewitt was unwilling to reduce the effective force of available muskets below the present standard, with the present nominal army of 25,000 men for three years. The actual number has been 23,000, with 13,800 available muskets. The new bill makes this number available with a numerical army of 20,000 men, but if the army be maintained at its present nominal standard, the effective force would be 18,500 muskets.

Hewitt proposes that all officers on this list who will resign, having served less than ten years, shall receive one year's pay; ten to fifteen years, two years' pay; fifteen to twenty years, three years' pay; twenty years, four years' pay. It is proposed to reduce the pay and allowance of officers 20 per cent. from present standard. This, it is claimed, will put them on a footing with persons holding similar positions in civil life, and of naval officers of relative rank. The cost of living in 1860 was about the same as now, yet the pay of army officers has been increased 50 per cent. Hewitt contemplates that his bill will work an ultimate saving of $4,000,000 annually.

MINNEAPOLIS.

A Scene at the Ruins of the Mill Disaster—Relic Hunters—Another Body Recovered.

MINNEAPOLIS, May 5.—The scene of the ruins of the destroyed mills was visited today by thousands of persons, special trains being run from St. Paul, and crowds coming in carriages from all adjacent points. The piles of debris were black with the curious and relic hunters from morning to night. The work of searching in the ruins goes on, the only result being the discovery about 9 a. m. of a body in the water of the canal, not much disfigured, but easily identified as that of Patrick Judge. The mutilated remains, supposed to be his yesterday, consequently are those of some other victim.

DROWNED.

WATERTOWN JUNCTION, Wis., May 5.—This afternoon a boat containing Joseph Posters and his son and daughter, aged respectively 5 and 9, upset in Rock River near the plank road bridge in this city, by a dog jumping from it, precipitating all into the stream. The boy was drowned, and the girl was taken out for dead, but she was finally resuscitated. Posters, although no swimmer, managed to save himself.

TOBACCO.

A Test Vote to be Taken on the Reduction of the Tobacco Tax.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—A test vote will be taken to-morrow on the bill to reduce the tax on tobacco. A motion will be made to suspend the rules and pass the bill. This will require a two-thirds vote to pass, but it is doubtful if two-thirds can be found to vote for it.

MILL "A."

Description of the Washburn Mill.

Chicago Fire Insurance Guide, March.

The great Washburn Mill is named after its owner, C. Washburn, of Wisconsin, one of the four remarkable brothers, respectively of the four States of Maine, Massachusetts, Illinois, and Wisconsin, distinguished not only in those States, but in the councils of the nation, and one of them our late worthy Minister to France. The building of the Washburn Mill is of stone, 100 feet by 135 feet deep, six stories high, walls six feet thick at bottom, running out to twenty inches at top, with gravel roof and iron cornice. There are forty-two run of stone, which make by 123 revolutions per minute, driven by two large columns of water from the river into the mill, and which fill two iron tubes six feet in diameter at top and five at bottom, with a length of tube and fall of water of forty-five feet, each column turning twenty-one run of stone. It is thoroughly provided with all the modern improvements and provisions for the prevention and extinguishment of fire.

THE FLOUR OF THE WASHBURN MILL, bearing its famous trade-mark, is made from the best quality of Minnesota spring wheat, in which there is a far greater proportion of gluten than in winter wheat, and is from this fact admitted to be much more nutritious than flour made from the latter, and is also greatly more economical, as from actual experiment it is found to yield per barrel from forty to fifty pounds more bread than winter wheat flour. These important facts, brought to the knowledge of the English public, through the reputation of the Washburn mill and its superior flour, have caused quite a sensation among the millers of Old England. Hence we notice in a recent article of the London Globe, under the head of "Cheaper Flour" it is said: "Our millers among others are apprehensive that the aggressive Yankees are contemplating a raid in their preserves, and something like consternation is the result. New markets must be found and a swop down on English trade by THE PREDICIOUS MILLERS OF MINNESOTA, is gravely apprehended. Minneapolis, the capital of Minnesota, would appear to be the headquarters of the milling fraternity in the States. It is situated in the midst of a corn-growing region, and its numerous streams give it the advantages of unlimited water power, of which it takes advantage to drive 200 pairs of millstones. The English miller sees in this the idea of the amount of wheat dealt with in these mills may be found from the fact that, from the 1st of September to the 1st of November last, nearly 133,000 bushels passed into these establishments. Representatives of American millers (agents of Messrs. Christian & Co.), "are already amongst us, it is said." Instead of these mills grinding 133,000 bushels in the month, as the above extract represented, the grand total is only 150,000 bushels per month, and makes per day from 900 to 1,200 barrels of flour.

THE MILL IS NOT RENTED, but is operated and controlled by the firm of J. A. Christian & Co., of which Mr. Washburn is a member. The value of the building and machinery, exclusive of land, water-power, and foundation, is estimated at $300,000. The Messrs. Christians, who are the practical managers of the mill, are two brothers, men highly qualified for such a charge, and of the strictest integrity, so that while the business is conducted skillfully, so it is most honorably. All honor and success therefore to the managers of the great Washburn Mill!

A Card Around the Globe.

From the Milwaukee Sentinel.

A queer-looking, though highly interesting postal card, after the Prussian pattern, passed through the Milwaukee post-office yesterday. The message was designed for a trip around the world, and was started on its long journey on a wagon made by two residents of Chemnitz, Germany, that the feat would be accomplished in 180 days. The original forwarder is Mr. Elkan, of that place, where it was posted on Tuesday, January 8. The route prescribed for the card is as follows: Frankfurt, thence to Bergen, Norway, thence to Higo, Asia, thence to Milwaukee, thence to Ceara, Brazil, thence to Melbourne, Australia, thence to Calcutta, thence to Cairo, Egypt, and return to Chemnitz. Written on the card in the German and French languages are the terms of the wager, and all persons to whom it is addressed are requested to forward it immediately after having noted the date of its receipt. The card being out 112 days is not probable that it will reach its destination within the sixty-two days now remaining. From here it was forwarded to New York, where it will be in the postoffice till the 24th instant, the date of the first outgoing mail. To follow the route laid out the card will travel a distance equal to nearly once and a half around the world.

CATARH

IS IT CURABLE?

Those who have suffered from the various and complicated forms of disease assumed by Catarrh, and have tried many physical and chemical remedies without effect, will find the answer to this question with considerable anxiety. And well they may, for no disease has been more persistently and universally prevalent and so destructive to health as Catarrh. It is a disease of the mucous membrane, and frequently fatal affections of the lungs follow in many instances, a case of simple but neglected Catarrh, which may seem to be a trifling ailment, may lead to death, impaired eyesight, and loss of sense of smell, and in some cases, even to the most serious results of neglected Catarrh, had enough of themselves, but as nothing compared with the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs likely to follow.

IT CAN BE CURED.

It can be cured. There is no doubt about it. The immediate relief afforded by COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTER is a fact which is a sufficient evidence of the fact that it is a cure. The plaster is a simple, safe, and effective remedy, and it is a fact which is a sufficient evidence of the fact that it is a cure. The plaster is a simple, safe, and effective remedy, and it is a fact which is a sufficient evidence of the fact that it is a cure.

A COMPLICATED CASE.

Gentlemen—My case is briefly as follows: I have had Catarrh for ten years, with increasing severity. For nine years I had not been able to eat or drink, and I had lost all my weight. I had a constant cough, and I had a constant discharge from the throat. I had a constant headache, and I had a constant pain in the chest. I had a constant weakness, and I had a constant loss of sleep. I had a constant loss of appetite, and I had a constant loss of energy. I had a constant loss of memory, and I had a constant loss of power. I had a constant loss of hope, and I had a constant loss of faith. I had a constant loss of life, and I had a constant loss of all.

COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTER

An Electro-Galvanic Battery combined with a highly medicated strengthening plaster, forming the best plaster for Catarrh and all other diseases of the throat and lungs. It is a fact which is a sufficient evidence of the fact that it is a cure.

An "F. F. V." Gone to Seed—The Old Story of Pride, Indolence, Luxury and Decay.

Letter to the Springfield Republican.

The land and chattels of a family, who long held high-toned position, in an adjoining county, were lately advertised at public vendue, and on the appointed day the white and colored people of the neighborhood assembled to witness the sale or purchase of the rickety vehicles, worn-out farming implements, antiquated furniture, and a few cattle, who might have represented the lean, ill-favored kind of Pharaoh's fatted calf.

The deceased owner of the estate was once a United States officer, who, when visiting in the old Dominion in palmier days, married the belle of the country side, who, as often happens, was also the greatest heiress in the county. By bad management and results of the war, the family have come to poverty. The money is all spent, the numerous slaves are free, and the land left of most of the heavy timber, which formed its chief value, alone remains, and as nearly the whole State is for sale, such property finds no market. The mother died some years ago, the gray hairs of the old man have lately gone down with sorrow to the grave, and their children, of whom the son is a United States naval officer, and of the two daughters, lovely creatures, who look like porcelain pieces of humanity, too frail and frail to be made of common clay. One has married recently a handsome young lawyer as poor as herself.

The young men of Virginia are mostly lawyers or doctors, when not forced to be soldiers, and the latter while waiting for practice. The youth had no home, for his beautiful bride, and she preferred remaining in the old homestead to comfort her father's declining years, to boarding in the village, where the brutish barrister had put out his shingle, so the lawyer went to his office by rail on Monday morning, and on Saturday evenings, the ghost of an old sorrel horse with wind had been a bride, and an ancient saddle without flaps, was sent to the station for the returning swain; and that lusty young person, who looks every inch a king and is as handsome as Apollo, would bestride the wretched beast (instead of carrying it), and ride away to his Dulcinea, who is pure and sweet enough to inspire the love of such a gallant knight. Poor young things, I guess they will have to live awhile on love, for it would puzzle the genius of Caled Hecate to find more substantial viands in their larder.

Money is scarce in old Virginia, and the articles offered for sale brought small prices in the main, and it was thought a thing for the heirs, when a relative bought an old family picture at $50, and another the same amount for a venerable carved bedstead, with posts like telegraph poles. The aforesaid horse was put up, and, to judge by appearances, had as much "age" as the picture or the bedstead, but the bidders did not seem to think that any merit in him, and he, with his caparisons went for $20.

None of the land was sold except a few small lots to some of the old slaves, who seemed greatly to enjoy the idea of buying instead of being bought, as would have happened if the sale occurred a few years back. Like most of the ex-slaves, they have an exaggerated idea of the value of "old master's" land, and paid double prices for the few acres which their scant savings enabled them to buy. They feel the benefit of trained muscle, however, and can manage to scratch a living on a very small portion of the great estate on which "their white folks," with all the advantage of mental culture, have come to grief. Bishop Meade wrote long years ago with regard to Virginia, "It seems to be the design of Providence to take the land away from the Indians to give it to the white man and the negro," and it looks now—days as if the good old man had spoken prophetic words of which we shall see the fulfillment.

An Extraordinary Case.

From the Manchester (England) Guardian.

A certain peasant in the vicinity of Toulouse, bought a cow from one of his neighbors for the sum of £20. The bargain having been made, the two speculators retired to a quiet nook to complete the transaction—the one to give the money and receive the cow, the other to give the cow and receive the money. The buyer, with an amount of caution which would argue Scottish descent, held his new purchase by a rope, while he carefully counted down upon a wooden leg or stump twenty pieces of 20 francs gold and a bank-note of 100 francs. At this point the cow, being of an enterprising and speculative turn of mind, suddenly interferred in the matter, and to use a diplomatic phrase a good deal used of late, "altered the situation" by making a totally unexpected "dive" at the stump and swallowing the bank-note. Naturally, a row at once got up between buyer and seller, the one maintaining that he had paid for the cow, and the other as stoutly asserting that he had not received the price of her, clinching his argument with the crushing statement that, as the cow now belonged to the buyer, and had pocketed the note in her way, the said document was still in possession of the purchaser. The unfortunate Judge to whom they have appealed has asked for time to think the matter out, and do his best to cut out the Gordian knot. As our contemporary remarks, the learned Judge will find it even more difficult to decide than the dialecticians of the Middle Ages—or, as a gentleman of our acquaintance was once heard to call them, the middle-aged dialecticians—found the celebrated dispute of porcus et scaccus. The question was this: A sack containing a pig was carried to market by a peasant, and it was sought to know whether the sack or the man carried the pig? For fifty years, at least, the scholars wrote numerous folios on the subject without being able to settle the problem. And yet that was a trifling matter compared with the present cow and bank-note case.

An Old Bank Deposit.

Twenty-seven years ago a lady now living in Nashville, Tennessee, deposited $100 in a savings bank in this city and had the amount regularly entered in a bank pass-book. She subsequently lost the pass-book, and believing that she could not draw the money in consequence of the absence of this evidence of her deposit, never again went to the bank. In looking over some old papers in this city not long since, the book was found, and efforts were made to find out whether or not the man carried the pig? For fifty years, at least, the scholars wrote numerous folios on the subject without being able to settle the problem. And yet that was a trifling matter compared with the present cow and bank-note case.

VEGETINE

For Dropsy.

CENTRAL FALLS, R. I., Oct. 13, 1877.

DR. H. R. STEVENS—It is a pleasure to give my testimony for your valuable medicine. I was sick for a long time with Dropsy, under the doctor's care. He said it was Dropsy under the Heart and Liver. I received no benefit until I commenced taking the Vegetine; in fact, I was growing worse. I have tried many remedies; they did not help me. Vegetine is the medicine for Dropsy. I began to feel better after taking a few bottles. I have taken thirty bottles in all. I am perfectly well, never felt better. No one can feel more thankful than I do. I am, dear sir, gratefully yours.

A. D. WHEELER.

BRIEFLETS.

—Moist.
—The lawyers are busy.
—Building is being kept up at a rapid rate.

—The Sunday schoolers were plenty yesterday.

—Janesville now boasts four temperance societies, and thirty-one licensed saloons.

—East Milwaukee street between the bridge and Main street, is being clothed with gravel.

—Mrs. F. A. Leland, of Sedalia, Mo., is spending a few days in Janesville, the guest of Mr. G. Veeber.

—At present prospects there will be little attention paid in this city to the observance of decoration day.

—Some careless shooter has sent a ball through the rear window of the vacant store No. 46 North Main street.

—The Greenback Club will meet on Saturday evening, the 11th inst., in Lappin's block, third story. All interested are invited to attend.

—Justice Prichard to-day sent a boy named Albert L. Mahoney to the Reform School at Waukesha as an incorrigible, on complaint of his father.

—Henry A. Tice, of this city, who is attending Lawrence University, Appleton, Wis., has been elected President of the Wisconsin Inter-Collegiate Association.

—Riley, the ice-cream man, is fitting up the store No. 46 North Main street, and proposes to soon occupy it as a restaurant and summer resort for the thirsty and hungry ones.

—The prices at the Opera House to-morrow night and Wednesday night, at the rendition of "Neck and Neck" will be reduced to thirty-five cents, and reserved seats fifty cents. Cheap enough.

—A ghoul was seen yesterday reeling along the street, as drunk as a lord, and his coat decorated with red ribbons. He didn't honor the red as well as some of the horses who were decorated in like manner.

—Alex Russell is putting in a new front to his store. It is a patent arrangement which by being slid down into the basement opens up the whole front and gives a noble chance for a crowd to gather about a soda fountain.

—A simple-minded individual is going about the city begging money for the Sisters of Sorrows, a charitable institution in Chicago. He is a little "off" in the upper story of his thinking machine, but is harmless and said to be honest.

—A professional gentleman came near furnishing a sensation yesterday. It is said that he prepared to leave town suddenly, but found that his landlord had locked up his effects for board, and of course he didn't care to go without his baggage.

—General telephonic communications are to be arranged at an early date. Among those proposing to invest is Dr. Palmer, who intends to establish a line between his office and house. Another line is talked of to connect the office of Lawrence & Atwood and Hogboom & Atwood.

—W. A. Brown, who was arrested Saturday on the charge of bigamy, is having his case examined this afternoon before Justice Prichard. Bail pending the result of the examination has been fixed at $800, but the accused being unable to furnish it was compelled to rest in custody over Sunday.

—Miss Lachapelle last Saturday accomplished at Beloit her task of walking seven, five miles in eighteen hours, the flashing walk inside of her advertised time by three and a half minutes. The walk told upon her much more than her recent walk in this place, and she appeared badly used up.

—Yesterday afternoon, a twelve-year-old son of Mr. Chris Paul was playing in a grove with some other boys, one of whom gave him a sportive push, causing him to fall heavily and suddenly to the ground, and breaking his right arm just above the wrist. He will be able to use it again in about a month, it all goes well.

—Some boys were carelessly shooting off firearms in Patton's grove yesterday. This is not the first time that this dangerous sport has been indulged in at that place, and as it greatly endangers the life and limb of each of the many passers-by, and of children who are at play thereabouts, the authorities should attend to the guilty ones without any delay.

—Saturday night two opposing crowds of boys, one from the "patch" and the other from about the gat-walks met on West Milwaukee street, and engaged in a free-and-tumble fight, in which fifteen took part on each side. By the time of the first knock-down Marshal Keating was on hand and quickly dispersed the crowd, before any serious damage was done.

—Mutual Improvement Club meeting to-night. In current literature section there will be a notice of Mrs. Horace Mann's Reminiscences of Froebel, by Miss Daniels. In minor classics Walter Helms will give a study of Mrs. Hall's Midsummer Eve. In the Dickens' section, Prof. Van Cleave will give the closing study of the season on Dickens as a Moralist.

—There is a rumor afloat that the galleries of the Baptist church have settled some, and a few of the more timid ones are late about attending any great gathering there on that account. On the other hand those who know best about the building, say there is no foundation for any such fear, and that the galleries will stand all the weight that can be placed upon them.

—Mr. Ed. Martin, who a short time ago purchased the fast-stepper Janesville, speeded him in St. Louis last Friday to the pole, his mate being Speed, and the fast flyer. The three heats were made in 2:30½, 2:31, and 2:31½. Martin, who weighs 211 pounds, driving, and the road wagon to which the team was driven weighing 280 pounds. That doesn't look as if Janesville had lost any of his speed.

—To-morrow evening there will be a free social at Lappin's Hall, as a farewell benefit to Dr. McCollister who closes his temperance labors here. The Doctor has worked energetically and the results show for themselves, and there will doubtless be a willingness on the part of those interested in the work to contribute liberally toward paying the laborer, who is worthy of his hire.

—Dr. S. S. Judd has shown us copies of papers published at Port of Spain, Trinidad, and on the island of Barbadoes. They are papers, but can hardly be called newspapers. They contain an abundant supply of advertisements but very little news except local, and not much of that. As specimens of journalistic enterprise in those far off islands, they will be highly prized by the Doctor.

—A transit of Mercury takes place to-day, which the almanacs say is visible to a large portion of the world. Its time-table shows that it was to have commenced at a few minutes past 9 o'clock this morning and to have ended at about 5 o'clock this afternoon. It may have been visible to a large portion of the world, but nothing was seen of it here, though the Gazette kept a special reporter standing out in the street all day, with a bit of smoked glass in one hand and an opera glass in the other, prepared to take notes.

—Every one in authority in this city, every man who owns a house and a lot, every taxpayer who has any enterprise or thrift about him, every farmer who has a field to cultivate and a home to beautify and make pleasant, every one who cares for the honor of the town or city in which he lives, should have heard or should be permitted to hear, the lecture delivered last evening at All Souls church, by Mr. Jones on "Spade and the Pruning Hook."

The moral and the religious influence of these implements was happily shown, and ably discussed. It was one of the most practical, original, and profitable lectures we have heard in this city for some time. More like it are needed and would be productive of much good.

SUDDEN DEATH.

It Overtakes an Estimable Lady as She Stands Witnessing the Baptism of Her Children.

A sudden and rather strange death occurred at Hanover yesterday. There were to be several immersed in Bass Creek, and about five hundred people gathered on the bank to witness the administration of the ordinance. Among these were Mrs. Hart-

Christman, who had come thither in a buggy, she having some children who were to be baptized. As she approached the scene she complained of feeling strangely, but jumped out of the buggy as usual. She was immediately taken with some trouble of the heart, and had to be removed home at once and within a short time expired. It is supposed that some rupture took place as blood flowed freely from her mouth. She was a large woman, over sixty years of age, and had been troubled somewhat with heart difficulties. The sudden death has cast a deep gloom over the community, as deceased was well known and greatly respected by those in that vicinity, she having resided there for years. Her husband is a prominent farmer living about three miles south of Hanover.

LOOK OUT FOR THE DOCTORS.

For some weeks past there have been in this city two men advertising themselves as Dr. Sunrise and Dr. McGill, and claiming to be able to perform wonderful cures. Yesterday morning Father Doyle took occasion to speak to his people about the caution which they should show in patronizing men who thus traveled about from place to place, and advised them to think twice before investing any money, and to be sure that said men were not impostors, before securing their services. He also said that he had heard that one of them claimed to have a brother who was a Catholic priest; but that no such name could be found on the official register. Sunrise and McGill went to Father Doyle's house to demand an explanation of the remarks, and got some sort of satisfaction. Quite a little crowd gathered about, and there was a little hard talk, but the Indian healer and his companion wisely concluded to take the advice of some present, and not attempt to force an interview with the pastor. Father Doyle watches the interests of his people closely, and his advice is generally sound to the core.

If these men can perform wonderful cures, there can be no harm come to them from Father Doyle's advice, and if they are quacks, the people should be cautioned to move slowly.

BEFORE THE FOOTLIGHTS.

All those who enjoy having their nerves tingle and their blood set stirring with the dramatic thrill of a strong company in a sensational play, should improve the chance presented by the appearance of E. T. Stetson's Combination at the Opera House Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of this week. The drama of "Neck and Neck" has been presented in nearly all the leading cities of the country, and has had long runs, and comes to Janesville backed up by some strong press notices. As there has been of late a dearth of theatricals, and as the play is well-known, there will be doubtless good houses. The sensational school to which the drama belongs seems to be the most popular one, if not the most elevating to taste. The play is a strong one, and is not without some true artistic merit. The Chicago Tribune says of it:

"The drama abounds in pleasant surprises, and is seen again and again with renewed interest. The moral is the purest character, and in its effect calculated to teach wholesome lessons to all."

Yesterday a mad dog was discovered in the First Ward, running about the streets, frothing at the mouth, and snapping at several children who came in his way. The canine belonged to Mr. Wm. Kent, whose son followed him up until the dog ran into the basement of Mr. Cannon's house, where he was shot. Fortunately no one was bitten, and the dog is now considered to be where he can bite no longer. The affair caused no little excitement, and several narrowly escaped being bitten, one little boy being obliged to climb upon a fence to keep out of the way.

THE RUNAWAY LAD.

Mr. Thomas Leech has been busy hunting for his runaway son during the past few days. It appears that the youthful tramp mentioned in the Gazette a few days ago was none other than the missing lad, who was tracked from Beloit to Milton, and to-day word came from Hanover that the railroad agent there who knew the young lad had met him and was keeping him awaiting Mr. Leech's arrival.

TO THE FRONT.

St. Patrick's C. T. A. and B. Society Put forward Some of their Best Men—The Prosperity of the Organization.

Last evening St. Patrick's Catholic Total Abstinence and Benevolent Society held its semi-annual meeting and as a result of the ballot the following were chosen as officers:

President—Rev. J. M. Doyle.
Vice-President—F. Quinn.
Treasurer—A. Sanner.
Recording Secretary—W. E. Nightingale.

Financial Secretary—James Gleason.
Janitor—Patrick Birmingham.

Board of Directors—H. Spohn, P. McCaffrey, W. Cox, W. Lepper, J. Baker.

Stewards—First ward, Michael Dolan; Second ward, Daniel O'Hara, Third ward, Thomas Cullen, Fourth ward, James Whalen, Fifth ward, Thomas Nolan.

The following were chosen delegates to the State Convention which is to meet at Oshkosh June 5: Rev. J. M. Doyle, Thomas Scanlon, F. Quinn, Richard Brown, J. W. Hogan, and W. E. Nightingale.

The reports presented showed that the Society now numbers about 175 members in good standing. When the opportunity was given last evening thirty new members were given admission to the ranks. The financial showing was also encouraging, it showing a cash balance in the treasury of $14.53, the receipts of the evening $83.75 being included.

The Society has been doing a good work in the past and starts out afresh from this milestone, with great encouragement for the future. There are many outside of the society, and outside of the church with which it is connected, who heartily wish it a God-speed, and who are greatly interested in the work which it has and will accomplish.

THE COLD-WATER CROWD.

They Look Upon the Ribbon When It is Red—Last of the Union Meetings.

The Baptist church was crowded to overflowing last evening with those interested in the temperance work, and many were unable to secure admission, while others who squeezed inside the walls were obliged to be satisfied with standing room, every seat being occupied.

Rev. Mr. Roberts wisely cautioned the audience at the beginning of the service, not to become panic-stricken in case of any alarm of fire, but no matter what occurred to keep their seats. This served greatly to soothe the nervous and timid ones, who probably had not, up to that time, thought of a blaze, but who throughout the rest of the evening were on the anxious bench.

Rev. Mr. Sawing gave a brief, earnest speech, urging those interested in the work to make it a permanent one by rallying around the club, and helping it, and caring for those who had just quit their evil ways. He predicted that the work had just begun.

Dr. McCollister then spoke for about an hour, giving one of his best speeches. He tried to impress his hearers with the idea that each had an individual responsibility, and each a duty which no one else could perform. In reply to a question the Doctor gave his views of the partaking of fermented wine at the sacramental altar. As for himself he believed he could do it without awakening the old appetite for drink, owing to the solemnity of the ordinance, but there were some who could not, and he deemed it better for the churches to use unfermented wine, which could easily be prepared, and then there would be no risk. He had known good men who had fallen from their pledge, and died in the gutter, by the awakening of the appetite by partaking of wine under these circumstances.

At the close of his remarks a large number signed the pledge, swelling the number of names to between 1,600 and 1,800.

The music for the occasion was furnished by a choir of about thirty, and was really choice, and ably rendered.

It was announced that this was the last of the union meetings to be held at present, and that hereafter the club itself would arrange for such gatherings as it would deem advisable. Dr. McCollister will remain here until after next Tuesday evening when there will be a social at Lappin's Hall, and a donation made to him to recompense him for his time and labor.

A BIG HAIL-STORM.

Some Interesting Facts From the Pen of a Former Janesville Pastor Now in Texas.

Rev. George W. Dunbar who was formerly rector of Christ Episcopal Church in this city, and who is now chaplain in the United States army and stationed at Fort Concho, Texas, has written a private letter to a friend in this city under date of April 21, from which the following is an extract. The statements would be hard to believe, were it not for the fact that they are from the pen of Mr. Dunbar which makes them worthy of credence:

"Good Friday brought us a very severe hailstorm. I was sitting by the window, reading thinking of nothing more than a thunderstorm, when in an instant huge volleys of hailstones commenced playing on our front windows, and in less time than it takes to say so we had little left but the bare shingles. You may judge of the force of the wind, when I tell you that notwithstanding we have a veranda ten feet wide in front, the hail covered our front room from end to end, and such sheets of water as completely deluged us. A full thousand lights were broken in the Post alone. The most serious damage was done to headquarters building, which was unroofed in an instant, and a poor horse who had run there for shelter, was so badly wounded that he had to be killed. We were not in the centre of the whirlwind; that was about a mile from the Post, and these hailstones fell there to the depth of two feet. It laid so thick here that it did not all melt till next day. Everything that we had growing was destroyed. The very catkins and flowers and weeds on the prairie were obliterated. Most curious of all was the amount of large fish found way up on the prairie by the men, who had them for their supper. A large gar-fish two feet long was found still gasping in one of corals. The horses were just coming in from water, and of course there was a general stampede. Some of the men were so injured that they had to go to the hospital.

THE CIRCUIT COURT.

The Circuit Court opened to-day, Judge Conger on the bench.

One year ago to-day in the afternoon the thermometer stood at 60 degrees above.

The indications to-day are, rising or stationary barometer, cold northwest to warmer southerly winds, partly cloudy weather, and occasional rains.

A Remarkable Result.

It makes no difference how many physicians, or how much medicine you have tried, it is now an established fact that German Syrup is the only remedy which has given complete satisfaction in every case of Lung Disease. It is true there are yet thousands of persons who are predisposed to Throat and Lung Affections, Consumption, Hemorrhages, Asthma, Severe Colds settled on the breast, Pneumonia, Whooping Cough, etc., who have no personal knowledge of Bosche's German Syrup. To all such we would say that 50,000 doses were sold last year without one complaint. Consumptives try just one bottle. Regular size 75 cents. Sold by all druggists in America. dec3dew1878

A Pardonable Pride.

Prompts most people to delay, by any landable means that science affords, the evidences of physical decay. Who that is in perfect health would not match the bright eye, the active mind, and other appearances of youthful vigor, with the luxuriance, the rich color and beauty of youthful hair? Parker's Hair Balsam stands pre-eminent as an elegant hair dressing, and by its healthful action on the roots not only promotes a luxuriant growth of the young hair, but unfailingly restores gray or faded hair to the original youthful color, giving a soft, rich, and lustrous appearance of great beauty. No other preparation so effectually removes dandruff or stops falling of the hair; its cooling and healing action entirely curing itching and humors of the scalp, and keeping the skin clean, white and healthy. It is perfectly harmless, exquisitely perfumed, and contains nothing that will soil the skin or gum the hair. It is not a dye, and is unequalled for excellence and purity. ## Chicago Market.

CHICAGO, May 4.

Flour—There was a fair average local demand on Saturday, but very little inquiry for flour for shipment. Among the sales were: 150 barrels white winter extra; 600 barrels spring extras, and 400 sacks do, and 60 barrels rye flour. The local flour supply was not heavy, and prices remained firm.

Wheat—A stronger feeling was developed in this market on Saturday, most of the surrounding favoring the bull element. Early in the day wheat was dull and weaker, influenced by unfavorable European market telegrams and a reported advance in British consols, and prices declined a fraction of a cent all around from the closing quotations on Friday evening. The receipts were not heavy, and the board of trade statistics showed that the shipments from here last week exceeded the arrivals. No 2 cash closed at 11½.
